

I hear that they use money. you know silver. But after that you know, they just quit. See the old people they all died off. So they just quit and they don't do that anymore. Most of the young people goes to churches. They don't do that anymore.

(Was this type of place for worship?)

Yeah. That's what they do just like a church. But I never was there.

That's been way back, I guess I seen the log house but they didn't have it then. We went over there to see it. And each post I think three posts this a-way (to the sides) and three in the middle and anyhow it's twelve posts. Twelve big old poles in there--these log poles. And every poles is got ah--they made out of a face. You know all poles.

(What type of faces?)

Well, they got different. Well, you know in them days lot of Delawares. They got different ah--clans you know. You know what I mean? Some of 'em they clan on a horse or a chicken or--you know what I mean.

(Did you say clan?)

Yeah.

(Daughter says: Tell her about that Turtle Clan.)

Yeah. Turtle Clan. I'm one of 'em.

(Now what were these clans?)

Well, it's just like ah--just like you belong to different ah--

(Do you know what guilds are?)

What?

(Well, like in churches there are clubs.)

Yeah, that's just like that.

(Daughter: Just like Eastern Star and like your husband is a Mason.)

Yeah. Just like that. But now I don't know. That's done got away too. Now they don't do that. They don't do that anymore.

(How did you get the name turtle?)
