

they caught him and took him up there. And ah that's what my grandpa say. That Black Beaver was the one that tame 'em. Tame 'em Kiowas. Help the government. And then they got allotted too. But on this side they didn't have a lot of trouble. They just go ahead and got allotted. But they told these--all these Indians to pick out a place they wanted. But some of them they didn't say where they wanted and that's why they just give 'em anywhere--any rough place. They just give 160 acres and they have it. (

(Are there any of the other three tribes on this side of the river?)

No. It's just like I told you the river divide it. They got theirs across the river. And we got ours on the north--divided north line.

MEDICINES:

(Was there anyone in your family a medicine doctor?)

Yeah, my mother is. She used to know lots. Even white lady used to be our neighbor you know over here by the road. She had a little girl. Oh, she was sickly all the time. And she was using all doctors and couldn't do nothing with her. And my mother--some- one told my mother say we'll give you fifty dollars if you see that this girls cured. Say we've been taking her to doctors and doctors.

And my mother said, "Well, I can't hardly do that. I ain't got no kind of license to doctor people. But ah--I'll try. I'll go over there and see her." She said she went over there and she told her what was wrong with her. And she doctored. And she got all right. She's a grown girl and she's married. She's got a little girl I think now.

(Do you know what was wrong with the little girl?)

(Informant continues and does not answer.)

(Did your mother ever tell you the names of any of her medicines?)

No, she never did tell me. But I--You know, how young people is. If
