

think that any of those Kiowas--just a few Comanches ever farm their lands. Most of the people on this side of the river farm theirs.)

(Do most of the Delawares, Wichitas and Caddos still have their old land?)

Yeah. That's the reason--they used to call it agency long time ago.

But now they call it area office. And them area office people they claim us agri- agriculture people. You know, we farm. And we don't get much from the government. We try to do our--raising chickens, raising hogs, you know. But them people they don't.

(Daughter: (referring to Kiowas, Apaches and Comanches.) We're more modern than they are. If they ever turn the Indians loose they don't know what they're gonna do.)

They don't know what they gonna--they don't know how to get at it. How to get at their own business. They over there all the time. It's just full of 'em in that area office. Trying to get help. But us, we don't hardly go over there. Like me, I just hate to go overthere. I just hate to go in that office. I do my own business. So if I turn loose I know what to do. Course I didn't go to school but I learned it you know in my home. See like now I lease my place out side. I've been leasing it for I don't know how many years now.

(Do you lease for cash or crop?)

Cash.

(How long is the lease?)

Oh, it's about a year or two years. Then I get more. Try to get all the lease I can of it. I just got eighty acres. This used to be my grandmother but I sold mine own property. I got this house build. I got burnt twice- my house. We had a house down there where that cedar tree is at in that bottom and we moved it up here. I just had it remodeled too and it burnt.

INTERTRIBAL RELATIONS:

(How many grandchildren do you have?)

Oh
