

blackbirds come flyin' around. They used to get this sealin' oil. Get one end and tie it to a ball and make a ring out of it on the other end. Twirl it throw it at a bunch of meadow larks and that wire turn. Get four or five dozen birds at one wack. They'd eat those birds. They're just like quail.

DOCTOR'S (WHITE AND INDIAN) *

Those Indians when they had a Sundance in those days. They had different clans. And those clans had different chores to do. And each clan had a leader. Certain ones that go through that sundance make a vow. And they each have different things on poles, certain poles, that represent the, what you might as well say, they was putting off something is how come they was giving them things up to the Lord. Putting those things away or else their sickness be done jump to conclusions just like white men jump to conclusions. (White doctors.) That's the only thing they go to now. Now we just got two, one is living in Geary and one is living in El Reno.

(Arapahoe?)

Um hum. And this one man I'm telling you about he fasted. This other woman is my neice. I don't know where she got it from. She probably got it from her father. They used to cure that pneumonia. Is ill- don't believe how they done it. I don't see how they done it. They sucked the pneumonia out. You know it has something just like a core, just like when you have a boil, there's a root in it or something like that. Part of a cold come out. There's one old man who use to live right around here got cured once, Warren Sankie. Like I told you that doctor told my brother-in-law go after that man. He went to work on him that
