

beat it. And just about that time the corral was opened, all these horses, they got out. They was in the corral and one of them had a bell on, you know, around it's neck and this boy said, "I'm going to get that with the bell on. I'm going to cut that bell off." So he cut that horse, and he cut that bell off so it won't make noise and just about that time the bell started, when these horses run. And they heard people talking over there and they started running towards the corral and it was Mexicans. And when they get to the corral they swing on the horses like that they jump on the horses, so the Mexicans they shout at them but they couldn't catch them. And they didn't have no way to chase them cause they got away with a bunch of horses, and they got all them horses. They got their horses and they was fighting with them. They was fighting with them but they got away with a bunch of horses. And they went way down there where this other boy's mother was sitting and she was laying down when they got there, over there in the creek somewhere and they found her and they pick her up and they put her on the horse and here they beat it. And they went long ways all night they travelled and they came to a big mountain like that. And then the next day when they got over there the next morning why they seen these horses. Oh, they was real pretty horses. And then they said... this woman this old lady she got sick you know and her son said, "I don't know what we're going to do with her. I guess we just have to stay here til she get well." And they said, "Yeah, we'll stay here. We'll stay here til she get well." And then she dddn't get well, she died. And they buried her and they took off. ~~And~~ And they went to Old Mexico these three boys and when they travel so far, they run into a Mexican home and they kill the whole family out. And they went in
