

(Did the young men who weren't married have girl friends?)

I don't know. They might.

(About how old was a man when he got married?)

You mean the old peoples? Or the young men? Why they'd be past thirties before they get married. They'd be grown man.

MARRAGE OF YOUNG MEN TO OLDER WOMAN:

(And then they'd marry a young girl?)

Yeah, they'd go and marry a young woman. But they say mostly a lot of them younger men, they go and marry older woman, because, you know, they don't want to fool with childrens because they are always on the warpath, that's how come they don't...of course, sometimes they would take their wives with them and they'd be older womans that don't have no kids no more. They liked to see their sons married to older woman like that. Elder woman, you know, but not old, but elder woman. These young mans, they would marry to elder womans.

(Then when a womans husband died, she could get married. Was there any perference for the man she was going to marry?)

They don't hardly let them marry their relatives, like a second niece or second cousin, they won't let them do that. They're sure particular about their relatives, how they tell their childrens, "That's our relative, and that's your cousin," and like that. They tell them everything like that, they don't just tell them, "Go and marry your second cousin, first cousin." They don't tell them anything like that. They tell them, "They're kin to us." They tell them that. The older people tell us that you know when I was a girl. I had a cousin that was really all all time...and my mother said, "That's your own cousin. Don't you
