

Buffalo Medicine, the way he does, well, he strengthen him. Just like if you put some of this in your mouth and chew it and blow. Well, that, their way sounds funny, but that's just their way of doctoring. They doctor that way in Africa, I see now. Those heathen people that don't know nothing about religion, they have got some way they got to doctor.)

PNEUMONIA WAS TREATED BY SUCKING BLOOD CLOT OUT OF PATIENT

Cecil: Now for pneumonia, when he doctor for pneumonia, he cuts you in here. They take a glass like this and take your butcher knife and hit it. And it will chip off, and when it chip off, it's just like a rzzor. It's sharp. Well, he takes that and then he cuts. (Jenny speaks Kiowa.) After he cuts, he does that. Good cut, the flesh, and then he takes his black handkerchief and put it over that wound, that cut. And then he take his mouth and suck it. And when he sucks that he claims there's a clot of blood in the lung and he pulls it out. (Jenny speaks Kiowa.) Well, one of the first things they take out is when they're going to cure you from pneumonia. He takes out a black blood just about that big in here and then makes a circulation when he does that. He pulls out the other blood and then you're all right.)

(Gee, that's wonderful.)

I was telling her about he cured Bob Goombi when he was a little boy. He was dying with pneumonia and he cure him and he took him for brother. (speaks Kiowa)

(Cecil: You see, that pneumonia, the white peoples got different way of doctoring. The doctor knows, we don't know. Well, the Indians, they have a way of doctoring, but they work on you right here, right in that shoulder where this shoulder is, right in
