

tipi and start singing there." He must have give them songs too. He said, "Start singing. Don't go around and tell people you come join our Bow String Clan!" Just don't do that." He said, "Just start singing. You start howling"--see being a wolf he give them the wolf ways. The Cheyennes. He must have given it to one man and this man was to be the man to teach them, tell them how it's done So they had put up their tipi, and they start singing. He said, "When they hear these songs he said, it's just like imitating a wolf, howling. They're going to come together, like the wolves do when they hear this main wolf calling them." He said, "They'll come together and those that come there are going to be your members. Never, never accept children. Never accept little boys. They all got be boys. Only certain ones. Certain age, You get together and you pick out the little boys who you want in there. Pick out the four little boys, and they will be known as little wolf cubs, I guess you call them. He said, "That's going to be their name. And just them four--no more." So they used to never have little boy members. They had to be certain age before he could join. And out of that, they pick out so many to be the leaders. And they pick out two to be the Door Keepers. They the ones that's going to accept the members, and if any getting rid of, or firing to be done, they the ones to fire one member, well, if the Door Keeper doesn't pass on that, then it's going to be fired. Like one does something bad. Or if some member comes there for some reason--if he's not wanted--the Door Keeper was a right to keep him out. And this wolf told them he said, "Never let just anyone come there to see." He said, "It's got to be a member. Now if a person just comes there to eat--" like what we're talking about, you know, they bring food together, well some people will just come there to eat. He said, "No. Keep those way. Only just the members." They had very strict rubs. and he said, "Then get four girls. Elect four girls. And you must take them in as your sisters." He said, "But if you have some boys in there," he said, "That leads some kind of a fast, wild life--that's always crazy about girls--you be sure and see that none of your brothers," he meant members--"Don't let them flirt with your sisters." He said, "If this boy has that girl for his girl friend, before he was a member, and before this girl was a elected, it's got to stop right
