

to put her in jail." And she asked me what he said. He said, "If I hear of you doctoring again, I'm going to put you in jail." "You tell him I'm not stopping. Tell him to put me in jail if he wants to, but I'm not stopping." So she walk out. Well, Nellie's telling you about this same old lady, she lived. Said some woman was cooking what we call a bologna inside the--some kind of a skin they put the meat in. It's just whole in it, just cook it. It's just like this celluloid.

(Yeah, I think I know what you mean.)

Yeah. Yeah. And said this old lady said, "No, I don't want you to be cooking anything like that because it's against my taboo." Said, "I don't want you to--just throw it out. I don't want you to while I'm here. When I'm present you don't use that." Now them woman was cooking and boiling it over the hot fire. Stirring it with a stick. Well, they don't believe her. Said, "Ahh, we don't believe you." "Well, if you're not going to stop, I'll stop you." And they didn't pay no attention to her. They went on stirring that meat. That woman stirring it with a stick and that thing turning into a snake. And it raise its head up, and that woman, instead of (unintelligible word) she threw her spoon away and run away. Snake about to come alive. Instead of cooking her bologna, she threw it away. If she didn't throw it away, there's going to be something bad happen to you--bad luck.

(Do you remember what that woman's name was?)

Yeah, 'Códltó.

(What?)

'Códltó. 'Códltó. In English--Old Lady Two-Hatchet.

(Oh, I've heard of her.)