

wife. And he left his family back somewhere along the river.

So he went where all the men were and told them to get ready with their clubs and their bows and arrows. He opened that bag. Out jumped buffalo. And then he just keep opening it, and another one would jump out. Just keep opening and all these men got busy and were chasing these buffalo and killing them. He kept opening this. Fast as he opened it, they would jump out. He just opened it real wide, and boy, they just come streaming out of there. And he tore that bag. And see, he couldn't close it back. And the buffalo just come out. And they just overrun the whole camp. And he couldn't get out and they just stomped him to death. They always say the white man always overdoes things, and he overdone it! He didn't get married to the chief's daughter! He was greedy. The more he gets, the more he wants.

STORY OF A MAN TURNED INTO A BUFFALO AND WHO, THROUGH FOOLISHNESS, IS TURNED BACK INTO A MAN

Birdie Burns: This time my story's going to be about a hobo. There was a man walking down the hill. He was half starved. He never did eat anywhere. It was way out on the prairie. As he was coming down, he noticed a buffalo. Some buffalo were sitting down. And some were eating grass close to a river. There were a lot of shady trees. Some were sitting in the shade of the trees, and these were grazing. It must have been springtime. Grass was just growing. And he stood there looking at them. He said, "If I was allowed a buffalo instead of a hungry human being, he said, "I should have been a buffalo so I could eat like these buffaloes here. Nothing to worry about. Some are sitting here in the shade and some are drinking and these are eating. I should have been a buffalo." So he walked up to one of these buffaloes and said, "Say, buffalo," he said. "I'm hungry. Have pity on me. I haven't eaten for a
