

and she told me that that old man I always see--and some people was glad that he died.

(Oh, they were?)

Yeah, cause he kill a lot of young ladies and mens. They say. I don't know about it. That's what they tell. I just tell you what I heard.

APACHE MEDICINE MEN: APACHE JOHN

(Well, that's what we want to hear! Do you know any stories about Apache John?)

I know him, but I wasn't close to him. He was way down--you know where Alfred's living? (Alfred Chalepah lives close to the Alden community south of Carnegie) He lives there all the time but us, we're way down west of Fort Cobb. And I don't know. I seen him, and I know him but I don't know.

APACHE MEDICINE MEN: SADDLEBLANKET

(What about Old Man Saddleblanket, Louise's dad. Could you tell us anything about him?)

Oh yeah. That old man, he's another one that is bad.

(Oh, is that right? What did he do?)

They say he's a good doctor.

(What kind of things did he doctor?)

Well he cure your fever or pneumonia. And he even doctor T.B., they say. And doctor their hemorrhage. And bone-ache and rheumatism, I guess. He doctored any kind of a sickness.

(Did he ever doctor you?)

Huh-uh. No.

(If anybody got sick and wanted him for their doctor, did they have to pay him for it?)

Yeah, they have to pay him. See, he's got some medicine that he put it on you. You know just like now some white people got some medicine--you have
