

captain. And if we get out of step she'd just slap us. Boy, she was mean to us. I won't say her name, she's still living. She was really mean to us. And we have to keep in time, if we don't she gives us a slap.

(Did you ever play any tricks on them to get back at them?)

No, I never did. We used to have kick ball too, Kick ball, and we'd play rocks you know. We have a little piece of toy round one and we'd throw it up and catch it this rock and catch our toy. And it be big rocks too. We'd play on the side and we'd pick it up, just like that and we'd have rock piles all over the back campus. We'd play rocks like that. We'd throw the rock up and then pick it up the rock and catch the rock while it's falling. When you catch it you put it on the side and just keep it like that till you miss and then the other one plays. We'll have rock piles all over the back campus. We'd play like that. And then we'd have friends and we'd play hide the rocks, you know. On the side of the buildings there's little holes. I don't know what makes them. In the cement you know. And we'd get little rock sand hide them. And then we'd tell the other one to hide his face and we'd hide them and we'd say, "Ready" and she'd come along and pick up them rocks that we hide. Oh we had a lot of games.

(What other kind of games?)

We had basketball, of course, and that was when the softball first started. That year I was quitting school, and I was a catcher and Racheal Martinez was the pitcher. And we were just starting and--when we had to go home for summer vacation. That was when softball first started. We were just learning it and that's when I quite school. My last year in school is when soft ball started.

(How come you quit?)

Well, I had finished and I had to quite cause I couldn't go any further.

(What did you do after that?)

I went to Lawton High for a little while, and that's where I learned to swim. You know, they have that swimming pool and everything. I learned to
