

Mr. T.: You told me this 3rd sentence, in part came from a conversation with Mr. Daugherty, didn't you?

Mrs. E.: About the bid?

Mr. T.: The information that you have here, if it is information, in the first sentence comes from Mr. Daugherty, is that right?

Mrs. E.: It came from both.

Mr. T.: But your records don't have anything to say about that, do they?

Mrs. E.: Yes, not on this, not on the narrative, but it does on my; a form I have in record, would you like to see it?

Mr. T.: Well that's what I thought I was asking for when I asked for what your records showed on this first sentence, I thought we covered that.

Mrs. E.: You asked about what was said to Mr. Daugherty, as I understood it.

Mr. T.: No, I wanted to know where that information came from if it was in your records.

Mrs. E.: Well, I understood you said from Mr. Daugherty. Do you want all of this, do you want the part concerning his

Mr. T.: I would like to see it before its read in to the record.

Mrs. E.: This is a form...

Referee: What is the particular section involved?

Mrs. E.: This is a review form, ABCD-58.

Referee: What section?

Mrs. E.: It is out of the form section; income and resource section.

Mr. T.: There's not a date on this?

Mrs. E.: Its on the bottom. And on the front is the date of my visit.

Referee: Would you read it into the record if its pertinent, would you read it into the record with the date.

Mrs. E.: This date down here is the date I filled out the form, the dates on the other are the dates I visited.

Referee: The date the information was obtained is what we are concerned with, is that

Mr. T.: Well, I think both.

Referee: From the date the form was (not clear)

Mrs. E.: This is form ABCD-87, review form, the date visited in the office on May 27, and in the home May 28, 1969. In a summary of his resources, Mr. O'Field listed 82 acres listed on another form, ABCD-58 listed for sale with the BIA but not accept; bid not accepted by Mr. O'Field. And this doesn't have the amount I thought it did but it doesn't.

Mr. T.: When was the date you visited him?
