

over there, he set down on a log that was laying down, dead log was laying down. He set on it by the river. And he was thinking and he said, uh - what they could do. What they could find. So he said he's thinking of that himself. So after he, he kinda raised up, he look and he said there was two young ladies and they was sitting on a bank. He said there was a big boy and two young, pretty girls was sitting on top of that. He looked up and he said he just wondered right there. He said, "There ain't nobody around here," he said. And those two womans, so he never spoke to them. The old man didn't spoke to them so this old man looked up and he said the other one she spoke up. He said well, he said (Static), in your future, your future life you never hungry. You never get hungry or anything. (Static) You will find food and anything that you want. You can always receive it. And that one was talking to him, that woman, talking to him was uh - they call him, they said my great, and great beloved sweetheart. Someone said that see, to him. And that's what he told him he would get in future. (Static) For anything, always get something. Something would always come to you. He says, "I'll give you that gift." But the other one spoke up and he says, "My beloved brother," he said, "I'm giving you this." he said. "When you are way out somewhere, regardless of where you be," he said, "You can always uh - have plenty." Said, "You never fail when you do anything. You'll never fail what you go out for. You can always get your wish or whatever you're going to do. You'll always get it." He said, "You'll never fail." And said, he said, "I'm taking you for my brother." And he said, "You remember that." Said, "Think of us." And he said, and then he started singing. He started singing that song, you know. And he listen close. This old man, he listen close, you know, and uh- he caught that song. So this old lady, this other one uh - (Static). "Sweetheart," he said that uh, "You remember now what I give you." He said, "You'll never want and you never