

will, be without anything." He said, "You gonna be wise." All of that, that's our sweetheart, one that said that. The sister said, "I'm going to give you the same thing." He says, "You'll never want anything. Whenever you go out for anything, whatever it is, regardless," he says, "you gonna get." He said, "You always get it." And he said he put his head down. And he said they just went over that, over that log. They went over there, he looked up you know, and he went over to that log and pretty soon they went up towards that hill, going up the hill. There, there was two deers. They turn into deer and they went on, they went way up there. And that old man from that day never forgot his song. And everytime he goes out for anything, he sings them songs. He sings it and then he get whatever he wishes for. Whatever he wants, he gets it. Regardless if it's in a warpath or whatever it might be. He was a great warrior himself, great warrior. (Static) Way out there you know, no man's country through there. He went on out that way. He traveled there for many years, just straight through there. At that time they stayed away for many years. Stay there, finally they came on and they uh - they did find something when they were coming back. They got some horses then. They cam on back on them. They got lot of stuff they got from way back in (Static). But they had to fight for them. But they, but the old man conquered them and got it, with everything what they need coming in home with what they went down there for. Well, they came back to their own village among the other tribe. When they came back they seen them coming down these stuff. So that was the end of that story.

(Who was this old man?)

CHARLES: Old man, Gaw-ki,

(Who's he?)

CHARLES: He's uh -

MARY: --My great grandpa.

CHARLES! He's - uh - he's a great grandfather, hers. On her grandmother's.