

place out there and just either sit there and die and then just after awhile I guess this dirt just keep covering them--they go under the ground. It's hard to get, you know. You don't know where they are, but these people that--there was at this pond, they found it. That's where they give it to me.

(Does that moster have a name?)

Pee ah mo peets.

(What's that?)

Pee ah mo peets. Means big old giant.

(What do you do with that sweet sage? You say you chew it and then you doctor with it?)

Yeah, just chew it and mix it with that bay kwee not sue. You just go like and just rub it on there--

(You keep that in your mouth. And then you suck on the--)

Yeah, suck on the pain, where it is.

(How do you mix it with the bay kwee not sue?)

Just mix it with it.

(You mean you put the baykweenot sue with that?)

Yeah.

(<sup>u</sup>And also you said that you can use that baykweenotsue for stomach trouble and then you make it into a tea.)

Make it into a tea and give it to them. And just rub outside on your stomach. Put on like linament you know. Put on like that. Give them a tea too.

(You said one time too that sometimes you chewed peyote and sucked.)

When I ain't got nothing with me--lots of times I leave this (medicines) and go to a doings like that and I don't have nothing, I just take peyote. And use that cause I was--keep one little peyote with me all the time. I carry it around in my purse or in my bag.

(Do you use that sweet sage, when you chew it, or that peyote for
