

(Pop: Eton Anderson?)

Yeah,

(Pop: They was there when I went there, see they --)

Yeah--

(So you must have been there about the same time. Pop was 77 last Thursday.)

He was, well I'll say. I'm older then him, then.

(Not much.)

How old is your mother, or haven't he got any?

(Uh-huh.)

You got mother?

(uh-huh. I got mother. She's at home in Wilson where they live. Theyl still live on his homestead. I have three sisters?)

Well. that's good.

(One older, she lives in California. Two in Tulsa, they're younger ones.)

Yeah, people get married and they go away, and when they get sick people can't see them and they die before they get there and they talk about it all the time, white folks does.

(Do you got an Indian church around here?)

Uh-huh. Buffalo Creek Church.

(Buffalo Creek Church. Has it been there a long time?)

Yeah, it been there a long time. I don't know how many years they built it. I don't know. It was already built when came from Whelock you know, and then they build another box house you know. So I don't know how long it's been there.

(Well, let's see, you where at Whelock before you came here in 1915.)
