

No just hold it, just hold it up for them to breathe.

(You talked about your medicine song, do you--?)

When you got a real bad sick person that's when you start singing your medicine song. When you know your not doing no good. And when the song gives you, let's see, it gives you more power to get him well.

(What about eagle feather? You have, did you use that first time?)

The eagle feather, no after you get through with them like you doctor them and then you get through with them. When that big smoke you put your eagle feather over it, like that.

(This is the cedar and--)

Smoke that eagle feather too. And then when you get through with it you start from that and just fan them all over clear down to their legs like that.

(Uh-huh.)

And that means you gonna get well and be well and it's just like you to think "cause it's got medicine.

(You said before, said its color green, the green, why do they like the green? Why do they give you the green?)

That green goods the leave of this--medicine is green. And you just get a solid green like that, this is light green, like this you know, color of this. You get that, or little darker than this one. The color's green.

Even if you get a yard of that it have to go with the smoke.

(Is there another strong medicine you have besides this one?)

Yeah this one, this is stronger and goes with that.

(Now where do you find that?)

It's up here east of Fletcher on the hill.

(And what is that called in Indian name for that?)

(Comanche word), means fine medicine.
