

Yeah. These old houses, last a life time, if you keep the cover on them, those log houses.

(Those big log houses - just cover them over so they won't get rotted out.)

Yeah, uh-huh. Built long before the Civil War.

(This log house of yours out here?)

Yeah.

(Way before the Civil War?)

Uh-huh, yeah.

(And you're still living in it, aren't you?)

Yeah. ((laughter))

(You had a room out there, anyway.)

I said I'd soon sell one of my kids than sell this old house. ((laughter))

(This man came to - come to buy the old house, you'd soon sell one of the kids as sell the old house?)

Yeah.

(Means alot to you, doesn't it?)

Yeah. People come here and want to buy them.

(Buy the walnut trees?)

I told them no. I was raised under them trees. I said I ain't gonna sell them.

(I'd sure hold onto all this material you have here. This old Cherokee records - too bad you didn't have those old papers. I guess you've looked through the old house out here to see if there's any out there, haven't you?)

No. Yes. I looked throught the - I got a bunch of newspapers somewhere here.

(Are they old ones like the old "Telephone" paper?)

Yes, uh-huh.

(Maybe Juanita knows where they are?)

I don't know.

(Well, don't bother...)
