

you don't hardly see me. So when I got up there I was glad to see everybody. Just like a farmer--sitting around with those boys. I says "I've got a few minutes and then I've got to go home." "Oh, stay awhile--they're lining up already," they said. Sure enough they were lining up. I looked down that way and said, "Well all right." So they took me down there and I got in line and they served me. I went back and eat. Dance was gonna start, sure enough--just that quick. So they got a chair out there--"Just stay with us a little while.."
We'd like to show you how much we've accomplished. If you see anything in there, we want you to tell us." "Well," I says, "I don't know. I'll let you know." So I went over there and I sat down. When they started I watched them. Just like in five minutes I was gonna get up and come home. By that time three guys was coming towards me. They got right here (close) and I had the feeling I'm gone! So they made interpretation and put that whip back in my hand. So they said, "All right. We're gonna giye that whip back to you. You go ahead and run the dance before the public. All right--this is one of your grandpa's roads, your grandpa's ways. Our grandparents. These boys here are going to try to carry it down this way." They talked nice to me. I appreciated it. "All right," I said. I just hold that whip. They brought that suitcase too, you know--uniform.

(Who were the boys that got you?)

Muggsy. (Alfred's nephew) You know me and Muggsy was pals ever since he was so high, you know--me and him together. We made trips together--my mother and Capitan. Wherever my mother went, Muggs was with us until he start to school. "Hurry up, uncle. Get ready. I want to see how
