

he become a Kiowa. After the Kiowas bought him. But the name of the people that captured him was Maseet and Chibatoh.

(Again?)

Maseet. And Chibatoh.

(Isn't Chibatoh an Apache name?)

Yeah--

(Lincoln: He's a half Apache. And half Comanche.)

(Well, is he half Kiowa-Apache--)

No, No--

(Lincoln: Comanche and Apache. Half Apache and half Comanche. But he speaks the Comanche language.)

(Now is he half Kiowa-Apache? Is it Kiowa-Apache or Lipan or--)

No. No. That won't go into that--that's Comanche--that's--He's what they call them eastern Apaches? Mescaleros..

(Lincoln: Mescalero Apache.)

(I see. He's half Mescalero and half--)

Comanche. I don't mean Maseet, but Chibatoh. Yeah.

(Lincoln: Maseet is Comanche.)

Yeah, full blooded Comanche.

(So they captured your grandfather? Do you know any more about how they captured him?)

Well, they were on the war path over there. And they got on the war path over there and these folks over there--the manthat--Chibatoh didn't have no children at that time. When they went on the war path they captured my grandfather, well, you see, they went and took him for a son. And after they took him for a son, they adopted him as a true Comanche. See, he'd have the same blood as a Comanche. After they captured him. Cause Chibatoh went ahead and told him, "You are my boy, now." And he said, "You are my