the Old Man, he had plenty money. He didn't need it, but anyway, the more he carry, the better he feels. So we took off.

GETTING SILVER DOLLARS IN CHANGE FROM BANK

One thing I left out, though. We use paper moneys around here, you know. Get over there and there's silvers (silver dollars).
Yeah. The Old Man told me to go in the bank. I didn't know that they don't allow Indians in the bank. No, I went in there. They looked at me. They all looked at me. I was dressed a little different from those Crows. The way I dressed. They say, "Where you from?" I said, "Oklahoma."
They said, "O.K." So, they took a hundred-dollar bill. Boy, they started with the two's first--the two'dollar bills.
Pretty soon they were all big silvers--fifty of them! I said, "How you expect me to carry that?" They said, "Put them in your pocket!" Well, I believe I had to hold my trousers, you know, to walk out! So I got back to the car and I start to counting. Boy, the Old Man enjoy those silvers! Boy! "Son," he said. "Can you go back in and get some more?" "Yeah, sure," I said. "Wait till we coming back!" So we brought a lot of them silvers back.

INDIANS REFUSED SERVICE IN MONTANA RESTAURANT: JOHN FLETCHER'S TALK

Yeah. Indians, at that time, they don't go in to merchants (stores) or in a hardware or place of business. I don't know-- of course they take their business, but in the door. Even right there at the bank. I seen it. First time we went to that little town, I went in. (to a restaurant) I went in first, you know. The Old Man and John Fletcher was taking their time.
I went in there and sat down.
(Was this the bank?)
No, this is in a restaurant. We went to eat breakfast. So we went in that restaurant, and I sit down. And they wait on me.
They served me. I eat. And John Fletcher and the Old Man, they come in, and they sit down over there. On (at) a table.
So they sit down, and they took their hat off, and took their coat off. And they sit down. I was through. I paid for mine-- my breakfast. And I picked up a paper, and I sit there for
