

the way they sit. And the man that does the counting sits here. And these men, here, here, and here--they do the guessing. This man, now the man that counts sits right in the center, here. And the man that does--he does the guessing, both of these men on this end. These are the people here that sits here, one woman and man. This is one-side and this other side is same way. And when they bet--blanket, money, or whatever it is, they pile it right in the center. Right in the center, they pile all of that right in the center. All of that rings, arrows and whatever they want. Now, they have a drummer. The drummer sits right in here. The drummer--both drummers sits on both of those ends. They're the ones that when they go to singing, they have--. Let me start you out with this. You're on that side and I'm on this side. And here, I'm just going to give you an example and then you can solve it out. Now here you give me a bet of a something, so I give you a bet of five gallons of gas which I copied. Now, we're going to play. Now this is what you're supposed to hunt. Now I hide my hands and you either hunt right or left. And then that's the way they play, you see. And then I put it in my hand. And I go ha-ha-ha-ha. The drum goes (he imitates sound of a drum) and ha-ha-ha-ha. Now you make a guess which side I got that stick. Right hand! You win it. And then they count that one. And then you guess four times. All right, now this time
