

that's the time I leann, learn how to talk English. And I sing. They put me in the singing and I sing. They learn me a song, the teacher learn me in and I sing. And I always be on the program. I don't know why they put me on a program when any program..thing..comes on. Then I had a speech to..and sing. I beginning to learn in ready and when I was 10 years old I passed to ninth grade. Then I got sick and daddy took me out, be never did put me back to school. That's when I quit, when I was ten years old. Quit school. I got sick.

(Ask her about what kind of games she liked to play when she was little?)

(Charlie asks in Kiowa.)

Lou Ella: The school kids kick ball. I know how to kick ball. When I was..grandma learned me how to kick ball, she made a ball and then she put string and make me kick it for practice. And afterward she make another one and said, "Now here, you kick it." And I beginning to know how to kick and I learn with that Catholic school up here. Them girls come over there to mission school and we play foot..kick ball. And I beginning to learn. I still know how to kick, but this time my feet got broke and I can't kick no more. One time I kick 150. I beat all of those..that Old Lady. On 4th of July. Yeah, you stand and you kick it like that and it don't drop.

TWO GHOST STORIES:

(Could she tell me anything about that Ghost sickness?)

(Charlie asks in Kiowa.)

Lou Ella: I don't believe in that. It happen one time, two times, but I didn't get scared. Nothing happened to me. You know Billy was small, you know, Billy, when he was gone to school at Concho school, he always go there. And one evening he didn't come home. It getting late and my husband said, "You better go see the boy," and I went to my sister...and here he is, he's over there. It was moon shining and he was coming and
