

Yes, Ma'm He was going to marry this girl - - the one that Dixon's married to.
They was engaged.

( Which one was that?)

Ruth: Hoteah (?) - -

Charlie: I can't hardly call it. Well, he was engaged to marry her after he come back from service. So when he got killed, well, Dixon married her. Yeah.

Ruth: She's the one that works at Indian City- -

( Were they full brothers?)

Charlie: Yeah

( Going back to your brother that was cured at that meeting - - which one was he?)

Charlie: My oldest brother, Logan Tartsoh.

( Is he still living?)

Charlie: No, Mum. He died here - - well, he was getting up in age. If he was living right now, he'd be around seventy-something. Well, he died about six years ago.

(When did this meeting take place where he was cured?)

Charlie: Oh, it took place way back there in 19 - - His leg - -

Ruth about 1927. I guess

Charlie: No, it was older that that - -

Ruth: 1919

Charlie: Yeah, something like that.

(Well, he was a young man, then)

Ruth: Yeah, he was a young man.- -

Charlie: It's been quite a while - -

Ruth: He's been in bed nine months and they couldn't cure him -
