

(you say they used to have big village about a mile and half away?)

Oh, yeah. That was in the early days. They had camps all round. There was one north of Ft. Cobb, a big camp. But west of Carnegie out there on old man White Fox's place, there was always a big camp out there. It's on the south side of Washita River, west of Carnegie.

(There the Kiowas are located?)

Yeah. Kiowas. And quite a few Apaches around there. They are mixed up pretty well now. That's all I know.