

my mama do that. Only thing she cut her hair, that's all, real short.

ATTENDING SCHOOL:

(Did you go to school after you got to be about 7?)

After my daddy died, I don't know how long I stayed out of school. Then they put me in Ft. Sill school. And that's where I went to school.

(How long did you stay there?)

At that time the grades go to, you know, fifth grade, and I don't know just how long I went till I was pretty good sized girl now, grown up. I was just not quite my young age yet when my uncle took me. My uncle took me and that's when I was really raised at Richards Spur.

(What was your uncle's name?)

Mat Odysey (sp) My grandpa's name is Old Man Odysey. Him and his wife they just took me and raised me just like I'm there own daughter. But I don't call him uncle, I call him my daddy. And he call me his daughter.

(How did you like Ft. Sill School? Do you remember anything about that?)

I like Ft. Sill school when I was there. They teach us to behave, you know and mind, and we used to don't go west of the building over there we just plays on the other side and go to school. I like 1st. Sill school, but now its different.

(How so?)

We don't go around with the boys like they do now on the campus. We don't do that. They keep us on the other side and the boys have to stay on their side. But now its way different.

(What kind of things did they teach you there?)

They teach us to sew and teach us to cook, and most of the time I work up there with the employees, the teachers, you know, eat. That's where I work. I thought that fifty cents was big. They pay me 50¢ a week and that's what stayed there and eat with them. Of course you have to know all the tools what they eat with. They got their own, you know, knives and forks and those
