

(Conversation about pecan picking.)

(What kind of things are they going to do down there?) (Referring to an upcoming celebration at Ft. Sill which was the topic of conversation.)

I don't even know. They might go down to the old cemetery. I think they going to move his grave--body. It ain't no body no more. He's been dead, oh, long time ago. It's just nothing but dirt, I guess.

Bones, dry bones.

(Are they having a special place for all the old big chiefs?)

Yeah. They want them to be all together.