

Yeah, Eetsay is good for snakes bites. Just shew it and just suck that poison out. Same thing for spiders, if spiders bite you. It get you well. No matter far its swelled you get it well. You know they say when the spider bites you they have little bitty eggs they spider. And when they bit you the little eggs just go in you, and just travel wider and wider in you body. Get's swollen. Sure travel fast too! After they bite you--the black widow and that brown and that gray one, really bad, just like that poison. That's really good for it.

Side II

(What about an ear ache?)

There's a--they call it--I don't know what they call it in English, it grows in Texas. They grow like peanuts. They got little round part seed in them. There's three in one. Just like peanuts they grow up there in Texas. Go down there and--there's a lot of Indians got it but they don't know how to use it, they what its for. All they do is they got them strings, you seen them when they dance, red ones.

(mescal red beans) Red beans, yeah. And you grind them real--just like powder and boil it and boil it and strain that stuff out of it. Now today you could but it in a bottle in them days my mother just put it in cup. When we have ear aches, oh I used to have ear aches so bad, all the time.

(How would you treat with it?)

Just drop it in there. Just drop juice in there. Things stop aching and then after it stop aching if it start again just drop it in there and it just kill the pain.

(What is the Comanche name for it?)

A cup ah.
