

erent. Say the difference by the young generation are. They are just as greedy as the white people for money and for jobs and everything else. In fact, they only learn from us people. They didn't always trick you into doing into stuff that was tricky. I blame white people. Because they learn from them certain things and mistreat us. We treat them nice, they treat us nice. And I am glad of the opportunity to say a few words. I should know more about Indians as long as I live here but I just figure that Indians, they acted like white people most of the time. I didn't see much difference. So, I didn't try to go in. Now we have a man, a farmer here south of town. He's got about three of four thousand little arrows and different kinds arrows that he collected under river banks along rivers which show me one time of most biggest collection of stone arrows I ever seen in my life. The Indians used to use arrows earlier days, you know. But anyway, once come out to Oklahoma and see these can't tell difference except they have little bit darker skin. They have brown skin, you know, they call 'em than white people and otherwise you couldn't tell much difference. They talk and act you couldn't tell the difference in Indians and white people. I appreciate this. Your name is?

(Savage.)

LSavage? That Mr. Savage came to ask me these things. I really didn't say much that would help out any but just personal observation and I think it is a wonderful thing that you people take these because it may enlighten some people that still think the Indians are wild or unintelligent. It is a good purpose that you people are doing because (--) we couldn't get along.
