

people live now. I'd believe they drop steer do anything in the world before they'd set up the way we use to--have to. We never had many trouble then, people (--) we never had many outlaws. They never bothered around a place like this. I never was bothered by the outlaws was never had anything stolen from me. Nothing like that. Very nice that way. Now that's one thing the Indians not bad about--they won't be stealin' your stuff. They might sell you something for little or nothing. Or get a little money off of you. But I never knowed Indians get caught stealin' Unless it some of those teen-agers now. They'll steal your bottle of whiskey or anything like that. Now them younger class Indians, there just like whites, cause there not like their old-- (Why do you think they have changed?)

Well, I guess that times have changed so fast. I guess thats--Now, you take these laws here every night, they're have 4 or 5 in jail every night. They got to where they just pull 'em out and (--) on the street. I have seen quite a few Indians drunks, then they get in jail or something (--) pretty good friend of mine and I'd go get him out of jail. In -- that's a kind of business see, squirm around and get paid too. Bout me kind a helpin' Indian. I went clear to Anadarko and got him out of jail.

(Really?)

Yeah, and I done it.

(He must of been pretty good friend of yours.)

He was. And I've done several--white fellows they don't (--) Indians, I'm not saying I m braggin, I got a pretty good deal over at Anadarko. They respect me over there--I know this white boy that got in it, here--onced. I do't know forget now--bunch of 'em robbed a store and