

'stay talkin' to people at 1:00 at night, my wife never did worry because she realized that I must of had the opportunity, and that was one thing I was thankful for she never did worry about me coming home. (Well, were you successful?)

In building a mission, no. But in having people tell me I got them on the right path, I can point to quite a number of people that in different places, particularly in Tulsa, that are now active members of other churches. Who got their start out there and they like one old timer who was going to Sacramento, California, and before he drove away in his car, he said, "Well I want to thank you," he said "All of my boys know about the Bible--they've learned from you." I'm real thankful for that. That was my goal to get them into heaven first, not to be members of my church.

TEACHING SCHOOL:

(What did you teach in the schools?)

Regular eighth grade subjects. And--the reading, writing, arithmetic, plus Bible, Bible stories. And --Ten Commandments and things of that kind. Cause some of the parents couldn't read or write, but they were thankful for what I did for their boys. One of the interesting side lines was--that--during the summer when we had our young peoples camp, well we would take some of the girls in the train them in the fundamentals of serving tables. And many of one of them got a good job in a restaurant in Tulsa. So it was sort of a rehabilitation program. Head start program for them.

(Did you say most of these were either Indian or half-breeds?)

Yes. This is correct.

(How were they students?)
