

But not that way. There, just pushed him out there just like a nigger. Down there with him and that's how come a government. He went out there and he wants to move him up here. This Oklahoma State, Indian territory. Then, that time. See, but Indian. He's raised there. Just like here and he don't want to go. He'd rather have to work under a kinda slave we call him. 50¢ a day. Work to sun to sun. And now $1.00 a day. Young generation he don't want work. Just go out there and get the gun and rob the fillin' station. Everywhere's it goes on. And he out not do that. And he'd rob anything where people had some money and just go in there and kill him. And then go. That's all.

CHURCH AND LEARNING:

(Where did you learn English? Did you go to__)

I never have go to school in my life. kBut that's what always people tell me that. People always ask me that. Where did you learn that? I couldn't talk English like rest of them. Like settin' out there. That one he be in school. Oh, that's all he know. And this is all he know is the English.

(You out teach him you oughta learn Choctaw.)

Yeah, that's what I told my daughter and my daughter down there but some of 'em he leared the English language. And he come up here and said here's an Indian song and right there I'm gonna sing, Sunday morning when the children over there about four or five come up here. Y'llsit down here and I'm gonna sing with this Choctaw. Choctaw language. I sang 112 hymn and I sang for the every time every Sunday about eight or nine o'clock when they come when they come up here. I want cha y'all come up here Sunday mornin about

(Come up where?)

Up here at my house. That's the reason I was just--the children in that. Three girls and two girls and two boys. Yeah, four of 'em come up here. So we can remember kind of--but that one he stays down here but he don't want to. You can't put him in nothing like that He just want to go out there, you know bicycle, rrrrr, yeah and he go out there and just lookin for that soda pop bottle in there. He go out there and that drink thing. He just go on. Yeah, we got to take care of our children some way. And so if you don't, our church is done gone, now. And now this one,
