

(Car. But they come get you?)

What kind of school would be goin on now?

Boy: It's just for little kids that go to kindergarten. So they can get used to school.)

(That would be fun to teach in that school.)

Boy: There's grandma.)

(You goin' to have more company?)

Huh?

(You--may be your goin to have more company?)

No, they ain't goin to come up there. He's goin up to that house there.

(Would this where you say Jimmy Belvin has his house over here. Was that his allotment?)

Yeah. That's his allotment. Got a pretty house up there. That's belongs to his grandma. He's goin up there. That's my daughter. She drives that car there. Oldest daughter. She drive a car down there.

(That one in back there?)

I think we've got everything but your name on here.)

Huh?

(We've got evetything but your name on this tape.)

Phillip.

(No S on it. Just Phillip, Phillips. Phillip?)

Phillip.

(Bob Phillip.)

That was on the roll book. 1010.

(I'm gonna turn this off.)

Let me hear this.

(O.K.)

If that's me turn it off. Even Sam, my son-in law, him and together, you can't get nothin out of him. When he puts his--that's all. Secret. Just go out there and whisper. and that's all.
