

Presbyterian. Oh, Rev. Ramsey. He ran the mission.)

He used to teach the old Ramsey mission over there.

(Yes, sir.)

Yes suh, I knowed him well. I seen him numbers of times.

(Mr. McIntosh, do you remember any of the so-called plains Indian tribes, the wild tribes, coming in to Seminole county back in the old days?)

Yes suh, goin' jus, going, passing through.

(Would there be a large party of them?)

Oh some, yeah, oh yeah.

(About how many, would you say?)

Oh, maybe 15 or 20.

(Now did they, did they stop and visit?)

Somethin' to eat, beg for somethin' to eat, somethin like that.

(The Seminoles always provided food for them and for their horses?)

Oh yeah, yes suh.

(Were these, were these war parties, do you know? Had they been on raids or were they just going through?)

They coulda been; I wouldn't know, I wouldn't know that. I was small, you know--fraid of 'em, too heh heh.

(Well now, I guess most of the children in Seminole county were afraid of 'em.

They were known as wild Indians.)

Wild Indians, wild Indians.

(They dressed quite differently, I suppose, from the Seminoles?)

Yes suh, yes suh.

(With their feathers and--)

And dat's itk dat's it.

(Spears and everything. Did they, did they look warlike?)

Yeah, look like they ready to jump on you.

(How old were you about this time?)

Ohhh, I don't know exactly, but I was quite small.
