

when he got through sleeping, his spell you know, I guess he was coming out. He couldn't wash his face, he didn't know where to wash his face, he just leave it that way. Finally, when the sun got up so far, he got up and walk around on top of this mountain. Kind of velvet green looking on top. He went on the edge of this mountain, cliff, you know, just rocks hitting plum around it on top. Kept doing that until finally late in the evening came, he just walk around there and sit around. Just here and there. Nobody around. Clouds over him. Nice looking blue clouds. Everything nice. He sit there on top of the mountain by himself. Nothing to worry him, you know. When he was sitting down there, laying down, when this friend brought him up there from the camp around that mountain he said, "you wake up, daylights coming. Wakeup and see the daylight." So he seen the daylight came and everything shown pretty on top, velvet colors and all colors. Late in the evening he was standing there and he decided to wait till he got a good rest, you know from his legs climbing up that mountain. He walked so far, so many thousands of feet. Going up and then his arms got so stiff and he wants to limber up before he goes down. Late in the evening came and it was nice and moonlight. Moon got right aboe up here and then shine over top of mountain. And when he looked at the cliff of this mountain this rock here, there's some pearls and diamonds just sparkling like this. Give him sickness. Got hold. Give him attention to his eye. So he went over there and took those sparkling pearls and diamonds just sparkling like this. Give --so he went over there and took those sparkling pearls and diamonds whatever it is, he don't know how to pick them out. Finally a piece of sharp rocks were laying here and there. I guess they were chipped off of this mountain. He took that sharp pointed rock and he went over there and he tried to chip it off, punch it on side, here and there, work it in over there and he tried to chio it off, punch it on side there then finally he work out this pretty good size diamond. I think it diamond or or pearls, whatever it is. Keep it out. When he pick it up it was pretty. Sparkling. He got hold of it and when he looked that way, he seen lots of sparkling all plum around it. Well, he tried to get all he can. He chip out seven of them. He got seven out
