

Come out, and come over us and then put a light over us. Same way that light kept coming. Just light came to me. Middle of the night. Middle of the night came that light. Just get--and that light was still with me so I just decided, well next morning I woke up and seen that light. Just get up and walk toward the light. I followed the light to see what it is. Then I finally come to the west side. When I got to the west side, they ain't no land there. When I look at water, maybe it Pacific water, ocean water. How I'm going to cross? No boats there days. Waves coming and water hit side and go back. I slept right on the ocean shore. With my clothes on, I went to sleep. I had my foot towards the water there and that light came to me.
