

So they took me there about 6 o'clock.

CONCERNS HEADACHE AND A DREAM

(Next three sentences not clear. Concerns headache and a dream)

--right here across the street this way and I saw my daughter and her husband over there. Well they came over here and--well we used to keep my youngest son's little boy. His wife was sick all the time and had surgery two or three times and we used to keep him when they lived in Tahlequah and I saw him. He was raised in the army. He was always, when he got into something he say (next two sentences not clear). Well I saw two angels standing there one on each side. I never had another bad headache since. I had--I never took nothin' for it. And so I told my daughter to start in with and I was waitin' for a doctor you see and he was the doctor that was waitin' for. These doctors you see never could do nothin' for me. They could ease me you know just temporarily and then it'd be gone.

Third Voice: Well I believe in those things.

ANOTHER DREAM COME TRUE

Yes I do, even though I don't never dream I had this dream one time about a man. He was so drunk that he was just hangin' on you know, just wobblin' around. And I don't know the other man but he was an Indian and he was riding a black horse with a blaze face. And I dreamed I saw that just as plain as I ever saw anything in my life in that dream. Well I got up--it was before daylight--and I got up and you know people on the farm got up before daylight. I got up and went into the kitchen and
