

(Ok, and did you have another story here?)

Yeah, I had another story there, but we'll have to leave it alone with that one.

(What was it about?)

Well, it was telling about my father's paternal brother friend in the lodge--Indian lodge, about a captive Mexican. And how he grew up and how he joined the organization. You've heard of this Gourd Clan and other clans, well, how he's captive. He grew up to boyhood and join the Rabbits. And then from Rabbits promoted up. And then--well, we got quite a bit of his life after he--he and my father went into orders together--brothers in the clans. How they grew up and how they grew up and ran together. And when they got married.

(What was that man's name?)

Martinez. Andres Martinez.

(And what was your father's name?)

Jimmy Queotone.

(Well, we'll get that next time and also about that spirit man.)

That's very interesting. And he got civilized and both of them joined the Methodist Church. That's the reason I become a Methodist.

(End of Tape.)
