

you know. That's up there where Bob Duncan used to live. Bob Duncan's old home place. There's one there - it's Arcadia, and Bellsvew, and Oceola - we had one at Océola.

(Yeah.)

That was - I was too little to go to Oceola.

(Where was it located?)

South and west, where Locust is now. Those - 33 closest 33 on the north side there, you know, where that Turkey farm is out there? Well now, it's a little bit north and west of that place. (not clear)...that was Arcadia.

(Arcadia was on Rose Prarie?)

Was right northeast of where John Duncan's old place is.

(Your great-uncle now, which one was that?)

John.

JOHN ROSS WAS CHIEF FOR 40 YEARS * 1880

(John Ross - and he was chief - about what year was that? About 1880?)

1880. Oh gosh. I don't exactly remember. Let's see, it was along about - oh, he was chief about 40 years. He was chief a way back there in - way before the Trail of Tears, you know. It was in that (words not clear). I don't know the time he was - you can get some of these other people. Old uncle Walt Duncan was the first superintendent of the orphan asylum and he moved up there.

(Which of your ancestors came over on the Trail of Tears?)

Both of 'em.

(Both of 'em?)

Yeah.

(That was John Ross - he was your great-uncle, and what was your great-aunt's name?)

Oh, let's see. She died on the Trail of Tears. Ohhh - Mary would know but I
