

then you'd pass on and they need something, then some of the rest of your folks would put 'em in that home up there.

(I see.)

Lots of 'em went to Seminary and some of 'em went out to that other school there.

(Sequoyah?)

Sequoyah. Uh-huh. Sent some of them right there.

(Let's see. The asylum burned in 1903, was it?)

I believe it was 1903.

TOWN OF LOCUST GROVE ORIGINATED IN 1911

(The seminary burned in 1910. Well, the Locust Grove actually was originated in 1911 then.)

Yes. The town - but post office, Locust Grove had been there for years and years.

Third voice: Yes. I guess it was there before the Civil War.

Yeah. Before the Civil War.

(But they just had a post office?)

Yeah. Just a post office. Then, some houses, you know - dwelling houses.

Third voice: Lotta people think that was all (static).

(Pecan post office?)

Yeah.

(What was the other one?)

Mark.

(Mark postoffice? And where was it located?)

Mark is about 5 miles west of Locust. That is - did you ever fish on the east side of the river at the low water dam? There's a corner where you turn west to go to the dam and 'cross the bridge on your right, on the east, goin' down there is the McKnapp place. That's where that post office, Pecan, was.
