

and we happy," he saying. He always holler like that. It was song from my grandfather. This is another song. "I saw my boy come home and I'm happy about it." That's the meaning of this song. He's just a little boy and he been on the warpath already and that sure is something great.

"Ya-he-ya". See, he's hollering for him. Just like woman goes "lu-lu-lu-lu". Just a proudness. He's honoring the boy. Glad that he can say that you know.
