

Rogers birthday on November 4. And last year, they dedicated their, this program, and it was all a surprise to me. And they presented me with that picture, Bob Love did that. He was the one that did. And, Will, he had so many things at home. And Pauls, that's his cousin, no his niece, Paula Low, worked as--her husband has charge out there at Will Rogers Memorial. So they had, sent several of these pictures back here. And Paula said lookin' through there were three or four of these. So Bob said, now I'm goin' to fix that up, and he fixed that up for Miss Lane.

(Now that picture of you and Will Rogers and the other folks there, is that made here--)

Here in Claremore--

(Before there was a Claremore.)

Oh, no--1906.

(Oh, 1906. Yes. Well, I couldn't see anything in background.)

Claremore started in '82. And there were two men that were bankers, they were organizing--Mr. Rogers had introduced them to us here, you know--that hotel. They just stayed with us while we got out picture.

(Well, that is a treasure, that picture you have there. What is the building behind there?)

Oh, just a little old--top of this office, little old grey building. There's a Bungalow Hotel, right across the street and down.

(I've heard Will Rogers mention something about Claremore and the good water they have here, and how it smells.)
