

Mr. Harper: Joe's band.

Mrs. Harper: Well, she said she calimed papa.

Mr. Harper: Shunkamolahs, West (not clear), Blackbird, Yellowhorse, Bates.

Mrs. Harper: When they came back, he really tells it keen, too, when he tells about it. You know it much better than I do.

(Yeah, I thought I'd talk to him, you know, sometime. I thought that was interesting about that wedding coat, and how it started. Do you know who gave it to you?)

Mrs. Harper: No, but Marguerite one time about three years ago, at that arts and crafts thing, you know they had Christmas. Well, she had (not clear)-- And I came by and she said she was telling this woman about it. "Oh, Hazel I want you to hear this." I stood there and she was telling this woman about it. You know, telling about that coat. Well, I already knew about it because my grandmother had told me about it. Then, oh about three weeks ago, some girl scouts came down just to tour around. They came down and I had some of 'em. She is working with girl scouts, too and so I guess they ask her to put on a program down there. So, she had nice program. Charles little girl and boy wanted to dress up so we helped them when we went down there. She really had a nice "speel" about everything, but she was telling this time--she was telling--well, it was the girls in that roundhouse. It was full. Whole big bus load, two buses I believe came. She was telling them it was a Naval officer gave them this coat. And she said--down there she was telling this altogether different. It was the first time I ever heard this. But this is what she was telling: "I don't know whether it was English or French boat that he was--I don't know the port where they were. He was in Washington and they accorded him honors (not clear)-- They presented him this coat." The was she was telling them, they didn't know whether it was English or French officers that had the coat, that was given to him. But
