

AUNT MOLLY

(I got tickled at Aunt Molly when Carrie got sick, oh, she was wanting Aunt Molly and Uncle Wakon and of course they weren't together and Aunt Molly, she was always kinda of--well, she always had different ways I guess. Anyway, she told mama, she said, "Go down there and see what Carrie wants." Mama said, "Aunt Molly she's dying, she wants you to come down there." She said, "Oh well, I'll go down there and talk to her for awhile.") (Laughter)

Whatever happened to that woman. All of 'em coming to her for her money.

John Blackbird and Andy--"Aunt Molly I want some money," just sitting there.

They sit down and they start in on her. And they wouldn't come in, they send their wives in. I couldn't get over--

(She was really kind though, you know, she kinda free-hearted like that.)

Uh-huh. She and Wakon come up and they played pitch all the time. Johnny-- mother! Get ready cause Molly sure wants to play cards when she comes over.

Boy, she was quick. Her daughter married Raider Rankin, and her baby crying and her grandmother was talking to her and I don't know what they done. Her name was Fanny Lashlie. She's a little short thing. She worried about her baby. She was just crying--grandma was putting her on her board and she just talking to her. I don't know what--

(Uh-huh.)

(End of Interview.)
