

Kate: Dry it. Make it dried corn. Yeah, I plant everything.

(Interruption) Just a lot of people come around want to know something. I live out in the country all the time. Never did live in town.

(How many years have you been making a garden like that?)

Kate: (speaks Cheyenne) Oh, I guess ever since we moved on the place. That small one, I keep going.

(Interruption)

(Where were you born?)

Kate: Somewhere around here. By Cantonment over here. No, I'm the only child from my mother and father. But my mother had two boys from another man. There was three of us, now we're just two.

(End of this interview. Rest of Side B is interview with Jay Black, Cheyenne (T-263-2)).
