

in Governor Joe like that, you know. That's how that was. Either it was Joe Red Eagle or - but I don't believe it was Dangee. Dangee supposed to live long time ago. And I believe he's too young for that. I'll tell you (unintel.) she knows a lot of things. But if it's not interesting - she just goes on - (laughter) sometimes I go up there and say, who is so and so? Now like the other day...her mother had meeting for Rev. Wilson's son who came home. And I didn't have time, I was cooking all the time, but I did invite Francis Holdon and all of her nieces and her family. Well, Ida went up to ask Agela, who are Ruby Wilson's people. She'd tell me thing, and then just go on and on ...I never would have known...still like that, you know (laughter).

(What is her maiden name, Ruby's maiden name?)

Ruby webb.

(Oh, was Mary Webb her husband?)

Mary Webb's her uncle.

(I knew there was some connection there, but I didn't know...)

Yeah, that's her uncle, I believe; and Bessis is, uh, Johnny is Ruby's brother.

(Yeah, now that I don't understand.)

See, Lenona and them Miles, well, we're all one clan, and I call her brother, her father's brother. And then I'm her aunt. It's real interesting...My boys always wanta know...now, they want to know things...used to...

(When they had half-way chance of knowing they didn't want to know.)

Yeah, when Mama's living, you know they could learn lots of things.

(Unintelligible.)

(You know that's the way with us...There were so many things that I wanted to ask Uncle Wakin, you know, and I ask him alot, but I didn't get to find out a lot of things I wanted to know.)

And one of your brothers, Dangee, isn't that his name?...you should...I tell
