

(Unhuh. How many go in there at one time?)

Oh, near ten.

(In that little tent house?)

Yeah. We all circle around there - sit around there. I never been in it, but my folks used to go to 'em. They drink somethin' to 'ake 'e vomit, you know. Get cleaned out, I guess. I remember the used to run a long feather down their throat. (Laughter)

(O o o h -)

They did. That's what they used to do. Just the feather would 'ake 'e vomit.

How far we go.

BUI DING HIS HO U S E AND GIVES LOCATION OF NEIGHBORS

(Well - they must have a contractor 'ere in aid -)

We have a contractor office.

(Oh. And he must design so many plans and everybody took

He build a house. He tell 'em and they agree to it. That 'ad houses they 'ad.

All these little tent houses built same way. You know all these seven houses?

Course Wiggins built later. He didn't 'ave no e. I don't think he 'ad one up there then.

(Well - that one up there - that house up there - his - Not the new one - but that one that he built. He meant (words not clear) was really pretty. I thought. It was designed different than most.)

Yeah. Freddie's 's built somethin', like the rest of the houses.

(Yeah?)

Freddie's and where Pa - 'ves now - 't's built like that, too. Practically same floor design - every one of the'. They 'ot different - we 'ad, in fact, all the people had houses built in country. They 'ad same kind, two-story houses. 'ad big 'long livin' room, bed room on side. Then 'ad dining room there, which don't have now. Just like Jack Benny - 'You don't need that. You don't use it, do you.
