

No, sir. I've never been at Ft. Smith. Talihina? I use to go from there to school. In Talihina. Well, ain't that? That's a town didn't it? Talihina? Now I know there's a lady told me. That claimed that I had TB. Well, now the doctor doctorin' on me. Kept a doctorin' of course. He (not clear) with his occupation. He said, he knew that I didn't have it. But it kept on for 2 long years. I takin' shots. Two times a week. Or I think one time a week. For two long years, I know that. And then they checked on me down there at Hugo. He siad, you know anything. You've been comin' here for two years. He looked at a book. He said, doctor. Says, "I'll tell you what you do." 'Course he wasn't goin' to say anything before the doctor. "You go to Talihina. Talihina. There's an Indian up there, I believe can tell exactly what you got." And says, "When you go up there, you come back here and tell us what he said." And I started, up there. And this doctor asked me, who's goin' to carry you? I said, well, (sentence not clear) "Well, if I wasn't so busy I'd take you myself." Well he talked like it was kind of dangerous for him to carry me. 'Cause you know he couldn't drive good. Well, so then, (words are not clear) he was goin' on you know. I don't know what toward. But anyway just testin' health and everything.

(That's almost to Oklahoma City.)

Yeah. Between here and Oklahoma City. So I went up there. This woman, I got sent me, give me a letter. And so I handed that letter. He took the letter and he give - give me the envelope back. "You keep this. And I'll take this." And so well, I says, Ah. . . I says what, "How long you gonna be here?" Said, "I'll be here tomorrow evenin." That's on a Saturday evenin'. Says, "I'll be here on Saturday evenin'" so I went in there and he checked me. Whatever they do, you know.

(X-rayed you maybe?)
