

ought to have had it.

(Yeah, if the government had kept their promise, they would have all had good homes, decent places to live. 'Cause I got so sick of seeing these poor folks living in those old rough board houses, unpainted and cracks through their walls, and that's all they got and can't get anything else. At the same time, they say that the government is taking care of them....or the government says they are taking care of them.)

Yeah. You see where Senator Harris. . .I don't know whether they he never did tell everything.

End of Tape.
